

APPI Testing, Education, and Public Health

June 2007 Render

The Animal Protein Producers Industry (APPI) is the rendering industry program responsible for the weekly Salmonella testing in North America. APPI also develops educational programs to control biological, chemical, and physical hazards, and will be considering other biosecurity program needs in the future. APPI became a program within the National Renderers Association on January 1, 2006, and is open to all renderers.

APPI's objectives are uniquely focused to assist member companies in manufacturing safe products. The Rendering Industry Code of Practice corresponds very closely to the initiatives taking place throughout the entire food chain and furthers the concept of safe feed – healthy livestock – safe food – healthy people. With continued intense scrutiny on all feed ingredients, the development of the code of practice by renderers shows great foresight. The leading edge of the rendering industry are renderers who participate in the Salmonella program and the participants in the code of practice that can be found at www.animalprotein.org.

APPI will continue to develop innovative programs to promote the safety of animal proteins and feed fats through testing, continuing education and training, and collaborative research. The following plants have made a significant commitment and will be the foundation for safe rendered feed products in the future.
